

Before You Commit: What You Should Know

A INFORMED PARENT IS A CONFIDENT PARENT

1 What Will be Expected of You & Your Family

You will be asked to invite a therapist to your home every day, usually after school. The therapist will work one-on-one with your child.

2 We have multiple children

Awesome! The person in charge of your child's program will help them learn with or without their siblings. What may be tricky is if your child's siblings have after-school groups.

3 Where will "therapy" take place?

The person in charge of your child's program will set up a few different places in your home for learning!

4 How many hours?

When you get in touch with an ABA Therapy office, they will assign a Behavior Analyst. Together with your doctor's ABA Prescription, they will decide how many hours per week are needed.

5 Does this "cure" Autism?

Autism cannot be cured, stay away from any agency that promises a cure. ABA Therapy is focused on teaching your child important skills that will help them in their life journey

6 Is ABA Therapy required?

No! It's elective and by choice, your choice.

We hope this provides some explanation for the questions you may have while contacting different agencies for placement. If you prefer a more detailed discussion, please contact our Parent Coach.

Just like with any therapy, make sure to thoroughly research and evaluate before signing any contracts!
